

LON. W. MORREY., D.D.S.

Born October 3, 1891 at Indianapolis.

A graduate of the Chicago College of Dental Surgery, Dental School of Loyola University in 1923. First practiced dentistry at North Chicago, Illinois, and later became School dentist at Lake Forest. IN 1927, after four years of private practice, he became Director of the Dental Division of the Illinois State Department of Public Health, at Springfield. From 1928 to 1933, he served as Director of the Dental Division of the Chicago Board of Health.

For over thirteen years, he has served as Director of Public Relations and Dental Health Education for the American Dental Association and in that position he conducted a continuing national campaign to increase dental health services for children, particularly in preventive dentistry.

He is the author of numerous books and pamphlets on dentistry and dental health, including: "Teeth, Health and Appearance"(1940) and "Care of Children's Teeth"

Lecturer, from 1930 to 1935 in Children's Dentistry at the Chicago College of Dental Surgery.

Served as secretary of the committee on Economics and as a consultant and advisor to other agencies of the Association interested in the development of a sound national health program.

In 1947, he was made fifth editor of the Journal of the American Dental Association, and also Editor-in-Chief of the Association's companion publication the "Journal of Oral Surgery"

He is a member of the Chicago and Illinois Dental Societies, the American Dental Association, the American College of Dentists, the American Society of Dentistry for Children, and the Psi Omega and Omieron Kappa Epsilon dental fraternities.

He is also a member of the governing council of the American School Health Association, a member of the Board of Directors of the Chicago Tuberculosis Institute, and a Fellow of the American Public Health Association.

