

WILLIAM LIPSETT ROBINSON, B.A., M.B.

Born April 10, 1885 in Portage la Prairie.

Graduated with a B.A. from McMaster University in 1909.

Received his M.B. from the University of Toronto in 1913.

Did post-graduate work as a fellow in Bacteriology at the University of Toronto in 1915.

Practised two years railroad practise on the K.Y.R. B.C., 1913-1915.

He served overseas with the 4th Canadian General Hospital at Basingstoke, England, from 1918-1919.

In 1920, he worked with Tracey Mallory, Pathologist, in Boston.

Was with Aschoff in Freiberg, Germany, in 1929.

Is now Professor of Pathology, University of Toronto, and Associate Director of Applied Pathology, University of Toronto, as well as Pathologist to the Toronto General Hospital.

Hobbies include: Music, Psychology, Philosophy, and radio construction.

Special lecturer in Medical Jurisprudence, Univ. of Toronto.